

Editor, Journal of Medical Genetics

Closing date
01 Aug 2008

The Journal of Medical Genetics is an international peer-reviewed publication covering original research in human genetics. The BMJ Group seeks an editor who can advance the journal's clinical reputation while maintaining its relevance to practicing geneticists worldwide.

Applications are invited from specialists in any branch of human genetics. Joint applications from two or more individuals willing to act as a team will be considered. Applicants need not be based in the UK.

Full editorial support and training will be provided. The editor is likely to spend 1 to 2 sessions per week dedicated to journal activities. The successful applicant(s) will be free to select his/her own team of associate editors and board members.

Closing date for applications is 1 August 2008. Interviews will be held week commencing 25 August 2008 at the BMJ Group offices in London, UK. It is envisaged that the successful candidate will officially take up the post of Editor in October 2008. Term of office is 5 years in the first instance with an option to renew for 2 years.

Further details of the post can be discussed with the Publishing Director, Mr Peter Ashman, and/or the retiring editor, Professor Eamonn Maher (email: e.r.maher@bham.ac.uk). A job description is available on request from Mr Ashman.

Applications should be addressed to Mr Peter Ashman, BMJ Publishing Group Ltd, BMA House, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR.
Tel +44 (0)20 7383 6169; Fax +44 (0)20 7383 6668;
email ctorselli@bmjgroup.com

BMJ Group

The BMJ is an equal opportunities employer and its policy has been developed to ensure that BMJ members and staff are fully aware of our commitment to provide equality of opportunity in all of our functions.